

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURES

To provide system to easily and quickly integrate and display information required by a user in accordance with the 5 user's setup.

The system includes a network; a terminal which is connected to the network and transmits page setup information, which includes addresses of web pages which a user intends to integrate into a single page and information which indicate a 10 layout of the single page, to said network; and a server which includes a registration element which registers the page setup information, a page generation element which generates the single page based on the page setup information, and a communication element which receives the 15 page setup information from the network and transmits the single page to the terminal via the network.

SEARCHED INDEXED
SERIALIZED FILED
APR 22 1996
U.S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE: 1996 500-100-001